Notice of Release of Product Introduction Website for Chemical & Lubricants Division

Hanwa Co., Ltd. (“Hanwa”) publishes a website that introduces the products handled by the Chemical & Lubricants Division, a division of our Energy & Life Living Materials Business.

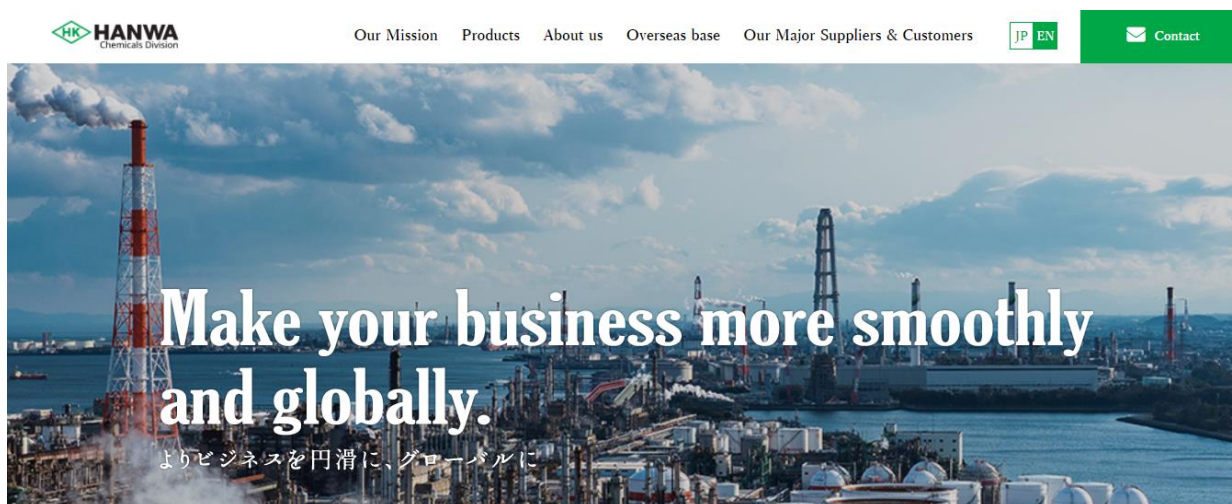

Hanwa handles a variety of organic and inorganic chemicals, including lubricating oil-based oils, additives, and urea-related products, even in small quantities.

Recently, as a result of concerns about the supply of chemicals, changes in the supply chain, and tight logistics, customers are increasingly being forced to consider alternative raw materials.

In addition, as a result of changes in behavior during the Corona disaster, opportunities for face-to-face information exchange have decreased, and information gathering via the Internet has become more common.

Based on this situation, this site will provide useful information for the customers, such as the products we handle and market conditions.
